Oh, The Places We Go!

Friday and Saturday
October 1-2, 2010

Oh the places we go both far and near! Now it's time to come back to GCC! Many outstanding people have been students at Genesee and have gone out into the community and the rest of the world to take their place as leaders and innovators. Our graduates have traveled to countless places that have taken them far away from here, but Homecoming is a time to come back. It is a time of renewing old friendships and celebrating the development of Genesee into the college it is today.

A group of alumni are planning GCC's first-ever Homecoming. If you want to get involved, have a knack for planning or have great ideas for events for Homecoming, let us know! We would love to have you join in all the fun! Contact the Alumni office at (585) 343-0055 ext. 6265 or jkchristenson@genesee.edu to get involved. Homecoming 2010 is a time to bring your families, have fun and get reacquainted with your old friends from GCC!

Watch your mail for more details coming in August. As final plans begin to develop, you can go to www.genesee.edu/alumni and click on Homecoming 2010.

ALUMNI MESSAGE

A New Chapter in Alumni Affairs

As we welcome another new year, I hope you will welcome me as your new Alumni Affairs Coordinator. My plate is full of possibilities and I look forward to meeting and interacting with Genesee's great alumni. This year, I hope to bring as many alumni back to campus as possible, so they can see how much the College continues to grow and how their support and involvement with their alma mater adds an incredible dynamic to the to the life and times at Genesee. I hope to do this through the GCC Alumni Career Network, a career mentoring program pairing students with alumni for the purpose of encouraging, supporting, advising and motivating (see page 5); GCC's first Homecoming (see back page); volunteer opportunities for alumni to interact with the great students on campus today; and much, much more.

As you will read in this issue, there are differences from GCC "back in the day" to GCC today, but the basic core of what makes Genesee Community College an extraordinary institution is unchanged – caring and motivating faculty and staff. Many alumni have written back saying they would not be where they are today without the good foundation GCC gave them. The College holds a warm place in their hearts for the opportunities the College provided them. Genesee's alumni have made a difference in their communities and around the world, and I hope this next chapter of Alumni Affairs gathers more alumni support than ever.

I look forward to hearing from you.

The Genesee Cougar gives President Steiner an alumni T-shirt.

New Sports: Three new intercollegiate sports have been added at Genesee.

Men's & Women's Cheer Team

New this fall was a Men's and Women's Cheer team for varsity and club sports consisting of 35 highly energized and spirited members. The squad cheers at all of the home basketball games and select sporting events throughout the year. Members of the team are recognized as true spirit leaders on campus and are highly visible throughout the year at athletic events, campus programs and volunteer events in the community. They are coached by Jennifer Newell, who brings an assortment of knowledge and professional experience as Dean of Students at Genesee.

Women's Lacrosse

In the spring of 2010 a Women's Lacrosse Club Team, consisting of about 20 members, will be formed. Dave Hoover will be the men's and women's coordinator. He brings nearly 30 years of experience as a coach at all levels, as well as a player. Assisting Dave is his son, Derek Hoover. Derek has been with Genesee lacrosse program for four years as the offensive coordinator of the men's team, while also having the responsibility of recruiting for the Cougars. In spring 2011, the College should have approval to upgrade the Women's Lacrosse Club Team to a NJCAA Division III Women's Lacrosse Team.

Men's & Women's Golf

A golf team was added to the list of intercollegiate sports in fall of 2009, competes in the National Junior College Athletic Association Region III level, and is a member of the Western New York Athletic Conference. Alumni Soccer Game: On October 24, 2009, a hearty group of Genesee Soccer Alumni from 1988 to 2007 took to the wind-swept field and played the first Alumni Soccer Game—odd years competing against even years for an invigorating score of 5-3 (discounting any off-sides calls). The game included 17 Genesee soccer alumni, Coach Ken Gavin and Jim Cody, assistant men's soccer coach and the College's senior manager of Technical Services. With grey clouds bearing cold drizzle, the older, seasoned Genesee Cougars were reminded how Genesee's original field was like being "on top of the world" and not the easiest to compete on. The chill and drizzle did not dampen the enthusiasm for a rematch for all Cougar soccer alumni in 2010 when the College's new outdoor, turf field featuring lights and bleachers will be available. Players from near and from far, both men and women await that game with great anticipation.

New Facilities: The College has recently installed a state-of-the-art, full-size all weather turf athletic field which will be ready for use this spring by the Men's and Women's Soccer and Lacrosse teams. The field boasts new lights, bleachers, score board, and of course, beautiful all-weather turf with a massive GCC Cougar logo at center field. Other outdoor athletic upgrades include new dugouts and field resurfacing on the baseball and softball fields. These are the first upgrades to the athletic facilities since the Batavia Campus was built in the early 1970s, and will serve GCC students for future generations. Indoor upgrades include a brand new gym floor in the Anthony T. Zambito gym, as well as a new sound system, scoreboard, and bleachers. Upgrades to Men's and Women's locker rooms will also be complete for the spring 2010 semester.

Encore 2009

More than 300 area residents attended Encore 2009, Genesee Community College Foundation's annual holiday fundraising event. The December gala continued the tradition of a fun and festive evening with new and old friends coming together in the spirit of raising funds for the College's numerous scholarship programs. Todd Bender '89, and his wife Kathy '90, chaired Encore 2009. The evening began with a gourmet reception in the Batavia Campus' William W. Stuart Forum. Guests then proceeded to the Stuart Steiner Theatre for a holiday pops concert with the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra, and then afterward enjoyed delectable desserts in the College's Forum. Contributions totaled more than $55,000 and are still coming in, said Foundation executive director Richard Ensman. "In these difficult and economically challenging times, these contributions should be a source of pride to everyone who worked to make the event possible," he said. The Foundation would also like to thank Five Star Bank, the lead corporate benefactor, for their continued support of Encore.

Joseph Andreano, '99 Artist – Joe Andreano, a builder, mason, World War II Veteran, college graduate, now also claims the title of artist—discovering a new passion and talent when he was an octogenarian. Retiring from his job at the City of Rochester, Joe decided to take the plunge and go back to school. He enrolled at Genesee in 1996 and graduated in 1999 at the age of 80. Joe started taking art classes because he needed the college credits and was surprised that he not only could draw, but he excelled at painting. He continued his education, earned a Bachelor's degree from SUNY Brockport—all while fostering his love for the arts. He recently coordinated his first solo exhibition at The Shirt Factory in Medina, NY, featuring some of his favorite paintings that include scenes from nature. Joe also loves to read, especially about the history and background of artists.

Joe's paintings emote a specific emotion, such as sense of feeling of tranquility in his landscape paintings that illustrate mountains, glaciers, or ice. When drawing people "on the move" he gives the feeling of vibrancy to the scene. As Joe points out, "you can bring the people alive in your paintings."

Tricia Griffith, '91 Artist/Photographer– Tricia Griffith has lived all over the United States after graduating from Genesee in 1991 with an Advertising/Visual Art degree. Her work ranges from fairies and dragons alongside wolves and house pets, as well as unique visionary pieces inspired by her dreams and imagination. Her artwork evolved into a creative mix of graphite wildlife, fantasy and nature watercolor, visionary abstract acrylic paintings and fantasy colored pencil work. Most recently, she began using egg tempera paint for pleasing results.

She works part time as a veterinarian's assistant, which gives her inspiration for much of her artwork. She enjoys drawing and painting animals and wildlife especially when she works from photographs she has taken herself. Her photography consists of nature and wildlife around New York State and some of the places she has traveled.

Tricia also experiments with children's portraits and fantasy and visionary art. "Most of my fantasy/visionary images are pictures that just 'pop' into my head. I don't use a photo for reference, just my imagination!" she notes. Reproductions of all of her works are for sale. Visit www.triciagriffith.com for more information.

Chris Baron's, '74 Author– Chris, better known as C.M. Barons, continued his education at SUNY New Paltz after graduating with a degree in Liberal Arts from Genesee. His background includes newspaper writing, political activism, educational technology and live-sound production. A resident of Bergen, NY he pursues interests in history, religion, politics and Egyptology. His first novel, In the Midst Of, summons the generation that defined the 1970s. In the novel, Brian, a college sophomore, connects with an offbeat mentor named Hollis in a lopsided relationship. When Hollis at last moves on, Brian wanders through jungles of myth, love and rich language in search of his lost friend. His novel has been referred to as "...refreshingly original, highly ambitious in scope and totally offbeat," by Bill Chinaski of Alternative Reel. Genesee Alumni Career Network

Join the Alumni Career Network and play a major role in guiding students toward being successful both academically and professionally. Many times a student will choose a field they are unfamiliar with. They might have limited knowledge or lack of hands-on-experience of the day-to-day routine, successes, and challenges of the chosen field. You can guide students in understanding their field of interest through the Career Network. We will match you with a Genesee student who has similar academic interests, career goals, personal interests and hobbies for the purpose of encouraging, supporting, advising and motivating. Some of the mentoring sessions will be done in person, but many can be done through email, phone, shadowing opportunities, or even an internship. If you would like to consider being a mentor to a student, go to the Alumni site and fill out the application. The first mentoring session will begin in fall semester 2010 and end with a final dinner in April 2011. For more information call (585) 343-0055 ext. 6265 or email jkchristenson@genesee.edu

GCC TRAIL BLAZERS: REFLECTIONS FROM THE FIRST CLASS

Class of 1969

It was 1969. Men were walking on the moon. Nixon was president. And bell bottom jeans were all the rage. The class of 1969 was the first class to graduate from Genesee Community College and they were 'trail blazers.' During their years at Genesee, they established the Student Government Association (SGA), the Cougar mascot, and they named the first student newspaper the "GeneSee Oriel" – a spoof on the fact that Genesee's first facility had no windows. The College's first home was the Valu Discount Store on West Main Street in Batavia, and beside classes students organized mixers, guest speakers, fundraisers and concerts including Bob Seger System and Alvin Ailey Dancers.

Alfred C. O'Connell was president in 1969, and Pat Easton recalls: "Stu Steiner was the dean of Students. You could always find kids hanging out in his office. Sometimes on purpose, and sometimes to just shoot the breeze."

She also recalled, "Report cards were always stressful. Not because we worried about what parents would say about grades, but we were in the middle of the draft and the Viet Nam War. If a guy flunked out of college, he was on his way to the 'university' of Saigon. Lots of our friends left for the war and most came back changed in one way or another."

While cause of report card stress might have changed over the years, most Genesee grads generally agree about their favorite aspect of attending the College. It was and continues to be the relationships they established with caring and inspiring faculty and staff, as noted by the following quotes from a student today and from 40 years ago.

"All the teachers I have had classes with have been very passionate, knowledgeable, and extremely encouraging of their students. They love teaching and it's inspirational to students. The small class sizes allow for discussion and more individualized attention to each student making you feel like you matter and are not just a number in the system," Jennifer Bryant '09 said.

"The professors were very personable and you could always talk with them. They supported us and they would go the extra mile to make you sure would be successful," Pam (Allein) Whitcombe '69 said.

The trail blazers from the Class of 1969 not only founded very important student groups and organizations, but they walked away with the College's first diplomas while creating countless memories, funny stories, lifelong friendships and even marriages. A new column called "Met My Mate" (see next page) reveals a few of special unions that started at Genesee and continued on for the long term.

"We were THE FIRST! We organized all the clubs, we all started with clean slates, we made our own decisions about which professors were the best or the hardest, the fairest or the most demanding. We even lost a favorite Math teacher -Mr. Hammer- and learned a lesson about life and death. We created the foundation for what is now GCC. And I think we did a pretty good job," Pat (Sanowski) Easton '69 said.

From the inaugural first class of approximately 600 students who enrolled in 1969, to more than 7,000 students who came to Genesee this past fall—we wholeheartedly agree. If you have memories you'd like to share about a favorite professor or person, a mate or marriage, or playing ping pong with the president, we encourage you to write to Jackie Christenson, your Alumni Coordinator.

A compilation of memories by Patricia (Sanowski) Easton '69, Pam (Allein) Whitcombe '69 and John DeWitt '69

'Met My Mate' at Genesee

Chris Resig and Sue (Quick) Resig

"As a result of the 1979 Student Government election, I found myself the new SG secretary and the proud owner of a desk in an office! That desk was why I ran for office; it gave me someplace to park my things for the day. Chris Resig who ran for SG treasurer had his desk right behind me.

"It didn't take long, working side by side in our handy office, for Chris and me to become fast friends. When Chris asked me "officially" to go out with him the answer was no, I didn't want to settle down just yet. However, did we ever see anyone else? Did we ever go anywhere without the other? We became known around campus as "chrisandsue" just because you would never find one without the other. By graduation we skipped "going out" and went straight for engagement!

"So much and yet so little has changed in 30 years. There is no such thing as a perfect life or a perfect marriage, but we have three terrific sons and you still won't find one of us without the other. When we drive along the thruway and pass GCC we can't help but smile at ourselves and the memories." –Sue (Quick) Resig

Chris is an architect for Stantec Inc. and Sue Quick Resig works for Roberts Wesleyan College, both in Rochester; they graduated from GCC in 1980 and Buffalo State College 1982.

Dave Easton and Pat (Sarnowski) Easton

Dave Easton and Pat (Sarnowski) Easton were members of the first class of GCC in '67-'68. They attended classes in the converted commercial building (formerly Valu Hardware) on West Main Street. Pat was one of the first members of the staff of the GCC newspaper, the Genesee Oriel. She explains that the newspaper's title was a joke considering the College's first home had no windows and oriel is a synonym for window. Dave was a business student who often helped Dr. Steiner set up for mixers. After GCC, Dave and Pat were engaged and then married when Pat graduated from SUNY Geneseo. They have been married for 37 years and have one son, Bryan. Currently they live in Saint Peters, MO, where Dave is a regional vice president for Family Dollar Stores.
